

RPM Payment Insights: Medicaid

May 2025 (based on data available 2/15/2025)

Remote physiologic monitoring (RPM) is an evidence-based approach that enhances the management of chronic conditions through continuous health data collection outside of clinical settings. RPM is most effective when paired with ongoing support from healthcare providers. For a list of validated blood pressure devices for use as part of an RPM program, refer to the US Blood Pressure Validated Device Listing \(VDL™\).

The chart below shows the status of coverage by state for relevant RPM CPT codes. It is intended to highlight which states offer provider reimbursement to perform RPM services for Medicaid patients.
